Professional Disclosure Statement

Some things to know about me and your therapy: I graduated from the Northwest Christian College with Bachelor of Science in Managerial Leadership. I received a Master's of Arts degree in Community Counseling from Northwest Christian University in Eugene, OR. This is an accredited counseling program which has been approved by the Oregon Board of Licensed Professional Counselors and Therapists. I am licensed and abide by the Code of Ethics for Counselors and Therapists, adopted by the Board. My clinical internship was done at Christians as Family Advocates, working with individuals, couples and families. I participate in continuing education to continue my education in order to better serve my clients.

My Therapeutic Approach and Philosophy: I believe that each person has solutions to problems within themselves and my therapy involves helping clients discover those solutions. I employ a unique blend of Contextual Family therapy, Cognitive Behavioral, Experiential and Strategic techniques in my approach to therapy. My professional interests include a wide range of topics such as religious and/or spiritual beliefs, couple/family behaviors, neural biology, and neural feedback technology use in therapy.

Christian Faith: I am a faith based person. A client interested in faith being included as part of the treatment process should ask for its inclusion and a discussion of what they desire.

Cost and length of Professional Service: Therapy sessions last approximately 45 minutes in length. The frequency of visits will be determined upon the type of problems which are presented. My fee for each session will be negotiated during our first session payable at the beginning of each session. I will bill your insurance company for you if I am able, and for those I cannot bill, I will provide information for insurance reimbursement. It is your obligation to cancel an appointment by notifying me at least 24 hours in advance of the appointment time.

Client Bill of Rights: As a client of an Oregon Licensed Professional Counselor, you have the following rights:

- To expect that a licensee has met the minimal qualifications of training and experience required by state law;
- To examine public records maintained by the Board and to have the Board confirm credentials of a licensee;
- To obtain a copy of the Code of Ethics;
- To report complaints to the Board;
- To be informed of the cost of professional services before receiving the services
- To be assured of privacy and confidentiality while receiving services as defined by rule and law, including the following exceptions: 1) Reporting suspected child abuse; 2) Reporting imminent danger to client or others; 3) Reporting information required in court proceedings or by client's insurance company, or other relevant agencies; 4) Providing information concerning licensee case consultation or supervision; and 5) Defending claims brought by client against licensee;
- To be free from being the object of discrimination on the basis of race, religion, gender, or other unlawful category while receiving services.
